Bratiano of Rumania Dies; Troops Guard

LONDON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Bucharest says that the newly formed cabinet of Vintila Bratiano, which was appointed by the regency this morning following the death of Premier Ionel Bratiano, has announced its intention of carrying out the policies of the late premier and will not allow the return to Rumania of former Crown Prince Carol, now in France.

The premier died at 7 a. m. His brother, Vintila, was appointed premier by the regency council, and he formed a cabinet composed of former members. Guards were trebled throughout the capital. Troops in the whole country were ordered to stand by.

After the operation yesterday a silver tube was inserted in the windpipe in an effort to relieve the difficult breathing. It proved of little avail for late in the night the premier almost strangled. His temperature went to 103.4 Fahrenheit and he experienced considerable pain.

The operation was accompanied by a recurrence of nephritis (inflammation of the kidney) with which M. Bratiano has been suffering some time. Recently he has had influenza and this was aggravated last Sunday when he went out in inclement weather. The immediate trouble that caused the operation was a form of tonsillitis.

fullest measures to make Prince Carol's efforts to gain the throne futile.

In his ambitions he was aided materially by the regency which was named to control the affairs of the monarchy after the death of the king and the inauguration of the 5 year old Michael, son of Prince Carol and Princess Helen of Greece, as King Michael I. This regency was composed of three men chosen as weaklings—Prince Nicholas, who had little of Carol's personality; Justice Basile, head of the supreme court, and Miran Cristea, patriarch of the church and not a political figure.

Girl Threatens to Sue Leader of Art Salon

Incensed over what she terms the misuse of her name on membership cards of the Chicago Salon of Fine Arts, Miss Bernice L. Pasteur of 4910 Drake avenue announced yesterday that she has retained an attorney to start injunction proceedings against Mrs. Margaret Bruce Beaumont of the Park Lane hotel, organizer of the salon.

Many of the salon members are prominent in society. The membership fee is reported to be $100. The salon was organized for the purpose, it is stated, of promoting art culture among the club members by means of lectures and exhibits.

Princess Gives Lecture.
Although the salon was founded a year ago, but few events have been held since, it is said. One of the first was held last week when Princess Catherine, the former Julia Dent Grant, gave an address before a select group at the home of Mrs. Waller Borden of 1029 Lake Shore drive.

And Mrs. Borden hastened to explain that she is not a member of the salon. "I lent my home to the princess," she said, "and only my friendship for her was responsible for the lecture given in my home."

According to Miss Pasteur, membership cards were issued bearing her name, without authorization, as secretary of the salon, after she had been hired to do some stenographic work for Mrs. Beaumont. As evidence she produced one card issued to Miss Mabel Linn, a sister of Mrs. Cyrus McCormick Jr.

While employed as Mrs. Beaumont's stenographer she observed, she said, that more than 100 Chicago society women had paid membership fees in the salon.

50 GANGSTERS CAPTURED; NEW TRUCE RUMORS

Sergt. Lynch Dies of Bullet Wound.

A dynamite bomb, placed shortly before midnight in the doorway of a gambling house at 1312 South Halsted street blew out the front and shattered numerous windows in the vicinity. Damage was estimated at about $2,000.

Abel Klass and Sam Buhai, reputed owners of the place, disregarded orders to close up given them two days ago by a gambling syndicate, police said. Klass was formerly chauffeur for Morris Eller when the latter was a sanitary district trustee, and was at one time on the pay roll of the sanitary district. An attempt to assassinate him was made in his garage a year ago.

Raids in which fifty gangsters were arrested were followed last night by rumors that the embattled underworld chieftains had arranged a truce in Chicago's gang war.

The raids followed the death of a police sergeant who had been shot during a raid for gangsters earlier in the day. Chief among the prisoners taken last night was Peter Genia, survivor of former gang wars.

Rumors of the gang truce were given some corroboration, it was understood, by the revelation that federal authorities again were taking action to deport alien members of the rival gangs who cannot prove that they have a right to be in this country.

The federal officials here are checking up the names of every gangster arrested in the present warfare. It is said the gang chieftains feel peace was necessary to prevent deportation of dependable followers.

Truce Rumors Follow Raids.
The rumors of peace negotiations closely followed a series of swift police raids directed by Chief of Detectives O'Connor, whose picked squads visited a half dozen hangouts of gangsters in various sections of the city. Besides the fifty prisoners, arms and ammunition were seized.

As a prelude to the raids, about 14 seized as gangsters during the last several days of strenuous police activity were arraigned in South Clark street court. The most serious charges were conspiracy to commit murder, others were carrying concealed weapons, and the least was disorderly conduct. Continuances were granted in all those cases.

Aiello Suffers Breakdown.
Among the defendants was Joseph Aiello, regarded as head of a north side gang. He was charged by the police with starting the most recent trouble by a plot to kill Tony Lombardo, newly elected head of the powerful Unione Siciliana, and ally of Al Brown, also known as Alphonse Capone, gambling and vice overlord of Cicero.

Aiello, however, did not appear. He had suffered a nervous breakdown, his lawyer told the court. That brought knowing winks from Lombardo-Capone adherents in court. That case was set for Dec. 2.

Lynch Dies of Wound.
The death last night of Sergt. Thomas Lynch, chief squad leader of the Fillmore police district, was the second fatality of the gang outbreak. He died at the Robert Burns hospital of a shotgun wound in the head. He was shot accidentally by a member of his squad while chasing a supposed gangster car in Washington boulevard earlier yesterday.

Frank Herbert, brother of Big Ed Herbert, bootlegger-gangster, was first to be killed in the latest gang war. With the apparent breakdown of the morale of Aiello, looked upon as the key man in the outbreak, Chief O'Connor saw the first signs of peace. The bombing on Tuesday night, despite police precautions, of an Aiello place at 823 Adams street was an added warning of the Lombardo-Capone forces to Aiello, the police assumed.

Riot as Reds Picket Office of John D. Jr.

New York, Nov. 23.—(Special).—Repercussions of the Colorado coal strike were felt in New York today. Jeered by hundreds of white collar workers, eighteen or twenty members of the Workers' Party of America, five of them women, started a Colorado strike "sympathy" parade here. The parade ended in a riot at noon in front of the Standard Oil building at 26 Broadway, in which are the offices of John D. Rockefeller Jr.

The Communists bore placards reading, "Down with the Colorado Coal Strikers" and "John D. Rockefeller, your gunmen cannot break the solidarity of labor."

Rockefeller Defends Self.
Police reserves managed to herd the battered, but still defiant, army of strike sympathizers into the subway. Before that, however, a dozen fist fights had been started, at least two women had been struck, a Wall street messenger, carefully removing his glasses, had knocked down one of the paraders with a right to the jaw, and four of the avowed communists had been arrested.

Almost at the time of the riot, Mr. Rockefeller, target of the paraders because of his alleged ownership of the Columbine mine, in front of which five miners were killed Monday in a battle with Colorado police, was issuing a statement. In it he declared his only coal mine interests in the western state were those of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company.

Mr. Rockefeller pointed out that, despite the strike in the northern Colorado fields, the Colorado Fuel and Iron company's mines are continuing operations. The Columbine mine is owned by the Rocky Mountain Coal and Iron company.

"Slain by Persons Unknown."
Greeley, Colo., Nov. 23.—(AP)—A coroner's jury investigating the deaths of two of the five strikers killed last Monday in a clash with state police at the Columbine mine returned a verdict tonight declaring they were slain by bullets fired by "persons unknown, said deaths being not felonious."

The jury took cognizance of the fact that the shots were fired by members of the Colorado state law enforcement squad guarding the mine, but made no further effort to identify the officers who fired the shots.

Ten striker witnesses, four of them women, testified they had marched on the Columbine mine only to picket and to show the miners at work how strong they were. Testimony by several employees of the Columbine mine that shots were fired by the strikers were denied emphatically by the strikers, who declared they were unarmed and did not attack the state police either with stones or other missiles.

STUDENT, TAKING TIRES OFF AUTOS, IS SHOT BY POLICE
Harold Hess, 20, 6940 Throop street, a student at the Chicago Dental college, affiliated with Loyola university, was shot and probably fatally wounded by a policeman early this morning when, with William Lieberman, 28, 6900 Yale avenue, a student at the same dental school, he was detected stealing a tire from an automobile.

When the Chicago Law police were notified the boys were acting suspiciously Policemen Walter Rodemski, Phillip Long, Frank McGraw, and Jerry McGrath were sent to investigate. They saw the two youths with a tire in front of 6511 South California avenue, and called to them to halt.

Instead of obeying the order the boys ran to their automobile, and the police fired several shots after them. Shortly afterward Dr. Bernard Anderson, 4621 Harvard avenue, furnished the police young Hess was in his office with a bullet wound. Both Hess and Lieberman were arrested in the doctor's office. Hess had a bullet in the brain. Lieberman, police said, confessed the theft of the tire.

W. H. G. BULLARD, HEAD OF RADIO COMMISSION, DIES
Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Rear Admiral William H. G. Bullard, chairman of the federal radio commission, died early today at his home here.

Rear Admiral Bullard was born in Media, Pa., on Dec. 6, 1866, and entered the naval academy in 1882. He was graduated four years later, but was unwilling to go into the navy as a member of the faculty. He specialized in electrical engineering. In the naval service he gained rapid advancement. He served on the Columbia in the Spanish-American war and was given the permanent rank of rear admiral in 1918.

COATH DEFIED BY M'ANDREW IN WILD SESSION

Won't Return Until 'Burlesque' Ends.

RICHEIMER (school board member)—When a man teaches that the revolutionary soldiers were smugglers, bums, pettifogging lawyers and loafers, the board of education should refuse to be coaxed.

RAYMER (school trustee)—You've been looking for a goat. Now you've got one. Go ahead.

RICHEIMER—You haven't heard all of the evidence.

RAYMER—Thank God I didn't have to hear all of it.

Amid the cheers and jeers of a gallery jammed with excited followers of either side, the trial of Supt. William McAndrew yesterday afternoon reached a climax when Mr. McAndrew literally walked out of the board of education rooms during the hearing and precipitated a noisy clash between opposing factions.

Aroused by President J. Lewis Coath's refusal to admit to the records a statement presented by Supt. McAndrew, Trustee Walter J. Raymer leaped to his feet and for twenty minutes delivered a scathing arraignment of the conduct of the trial, the character of the testimony, and the attitude of board attorneys.

McAndrew Gives His Reasons.
In his statement Supt. McAndrew pointed out that the press has denounced the trial as a "burlesque," and announced his intention to absent himself from further hearings until the board is ready to abandon its present tactics and try him on the main charge of insubordination. The hearings, he said, were generally regarded as a "travesty on justice" before a "packed jury" and an admittedly prejudiced judge.

Acting on Attorney Frank S. Richeimer's advice, President Coath refused to admit the communication to the files. Then Supt. McAndrew left the room. President Coath's plea that he remain was ignored.

In his discourse, which was the first defense of the suspended superintendent as well as the first extended comment by a board member on the trial, Mr. Raymer labeled the charges of pro-British teachings as political propaganda, having no bearing on the charges lodged against Mr. McAndrew on Aug. 29, when he was suspended.

Witnesses' Records Assailed.
The time had arrived, Mr. Raymer insisted, to dispense with imported lecturers on the American revolution brought to Chicago to bolster a political campaign. Further, he assailed the past records of the board's chief witnesses, and heatedly declared that he, as one of the judges, was unwilling to listen to further elucidation of the motives prompting the English Speaking union, the Rhodes scholarship trustees, and the Carnegie Foundation by men whose own reputations as patriots were doubtful.

Repeatedly he declared that the trial had gone astray, that Supt. McAndrew was suspended for alleged insubordination and not for the dissemination of British propaganda by agencies with which he had no connection.

Pooh Poohs Ironides Charge.
Besides, he argued, even if tainted textbooks were an issue, Supt. McAndrew was not responsible for their introduction into the Chicago school system. They had been installed, Mr. Raymer said, during a previous Thompson administration before Supt. McAndrew was put in charge of the schools. Likewise he pooh poohed the charge that Supt. McAndrew had prevented solicitation of funds among school children for the rehabilitation of "Old Ironides."

"I was president of the board of education when the Old Ironides question came up," Mr. Raymer said. "Although a rule of the board forbade the collection of money among school children, Supt. McAndrew met with me and we evolved the plan whereby the Chicago pupils were able to raise money for Old Ironides in any other way."

Richeimer Makes Reply.
Stirred by Trustee Raymer's criticism, Attorney Richeimer delivered an address in which he summed up the entire battle of the books, Koestler, Pulaski, Von Steuben, Lafayette, Nathan Hale, Ethan Allen, and other heroes of the revolution passed in review. The testimony of every witness had a distinct bearing on the charges against Supt. McAndrew, Richeimer said. Eventually all of it would be tied together to prove that Supt. McAndrew had been guilty of "conduct unbecoming his position," he asserted.

"For your information," Righelmer said, "let me read to you from the original charges filed on Aug. 29. In addition to insubordination, Mr. McAndrew was suspended for there he read from the records 'conduct incompatible with and inconsistent with and in direct violation of his duties as superintendent of schools.'"

Witness Walks in Vain.

While Trustees Raymer and Attorney Righelmer were hashing each other in a wordy controversy, with a few "jacks" and "hyenas" and an occasional "damn," Charles Grant Miller, witness for the prosecution, sat quietly in a corner, waiting to talk about the insidious influence of the English Speaking Union. When the hearing adjourned the English Speaking Union was still unscathed.

"I have yet been unable to discern that any witness has offered any testimony that has any relevance to the charge of insubordination," said Trustee Raymer, in opening his attack on the conduct of the hearings.

"The president will charge me with a breach of faith as he charged one other member of the board in my absence. He will say that it was understood by the members of the board that we were sitting as judges."

No Pledge of Silence, He Says.

"There was no pledge on our part that nothing would be said—that we would not exercise the right of expression. Trustee Helen Heffernan, however, was accused of a breach of faith."

"I have tried to analyze these proceedings. I have been unable to find that any of the witnesses—or so called witnesses—presented evidence concerning the charge of insubordination, on which Supt. McAndrew is supposed to be on trial."

"We've had a certain individual from the Pacific coast and others from the Atlantic coast express their opinions as to the interpretation of writings contained in history books. I have yet to find that all this has any particular bearing on the case."

"I'm just as eager to pass judgment on the case as any of you. I want to be fair, and all who know me know that I will be fair. But I cannot conceive why action can't be taken in the very near future on the conclusion of this case. It's very far fetched, however, to label as evidence these opinions of lecturers brought here from the outside. Mr. Righelmer, I want to hear the charges and pass judgment."

Righelmer Answers Raymer.

"Supt. McAndrew was suspended for conduct in direct violation of his duties as superintendent, not alone for insubordination," Righelmer replied warmly. "The fact that he recommended and permitted to be used pro-British and treasonable text books shows that he acted in direct violation of the state school law."

"We expect to prove by the testimony of Mr. Miller and the others that he knew that these histories were pro-British because of a similar investigation that occurred in New York while he was connected with the schools in that city. The books were banned in the schools from which he came, and yet he introduced them here. He can't argue out of that."

"Do you think a man who either unknowingly or deliberately approves the use of such books is fit to act as superintendent? Do you think a board of education that listens to such testimony is failing in its duty?"

"We haven't concluded yet, Mr. Ray-

McAndrew Explains His Walkout

Following is the letter addressed to the board of education by Supt. William McAndrew yesterday, explaining his reasons for walking out on his trial, which precipitated a stormy clash over the conduct of the hearings:

"It is now nearly three months since your president and five members voted to charge me with insubordination and improper conduct in having entered into an unlawful confederacy with certain employees of the board, designated as extra teachers."

"These teachers were doing the work assigned them under an order of the board recommended years ago by former Supt. Mrs. Ella Flagg Young. I believed that these teachers were essential agencies for the efficient conduct of the schools and I did not assist the attorney of the board to carry out the design of a majority of the board to supplant them by political appointees."

Mayor's Promise Recalled.

"It is now seven months since the new mayor in his official inaugural address declared his intention, though he has no proper jurisdiction over the schools, to proceed to oust the superintendent."

"I have, week after week, presented myself for a trial upon the above charges, which has been denied me. Instead, you have entertained various paid patriots, who have complained of the nature of the various text books in use in the schools of America adopted for Chicago by the board of education before I became superintendent, reappointed by the board on recommendation of your own teachers after I became superintendent, books examined by your own president and reported by him as unobjectionable, books referred to a committee of your board which failed to report them as objectionable."

Dismisses Additional Charges.

"Instead of trying me on the alleged misdemeanor for which I was suspended, you have permitted to be added a host of irrelevant allegations. Of these sixteen charges, number three, concerning the 'English Speaking Union' and alleging its misdeeds, refers to an organization of which I am not and never was a member, and with which I never had any dealings here or elsewhere."

"Charge No. 5 is against the University of Chicago, with which I have no connection and whose courses had been taken by your teachers long before my connection with your system."

"Charge No. 13, an allegation of obligation to publishers of text books because I edited the Educational Review, aims to inject impropriety into a service given by school men generally."

"We're not through with this defendant who walks out on us. It's easy to laugh like a jackass or a hyena and refuse to stand up in defense. It takes real guts and real knowledge to stand up and defend a position."

Applause and laughter from an appreciative audience forced the attorney to pause for a second time.

"You challenge me to show the relevancy of this testimony," he continued. "Very well, Mr. Raymer, these are the facts. I can show, and I will show, that Supt. McAndrew has been repeatedly guilty of deliberate acts of insubordination ever since his coming to Chicago. I will show that he was insolent even to those trustees who now stand so staunch in his defense. It's high time when he sees nation pitted against nation.

"The sooner you get down to real concrete propositions and cease dealing with such opinions the better. I can't conceive of the fairness of this trial to date. There's got to be more testimony given before you can justly call it evidence."

"There's no doubt in my mind or in your mind that a number of history books used under McAndrew were adopted by a former board of education. If McAndrew endorsed them he did so because he believed those histories told the truth."

McAndrew Partisans Cheer.

Another storm ensued while the McAndrew sympathizers in the gallery took their inning. When the cheers subsided President Coath entered the lists.

"Do you believe, Mr. Raymer," he asked, "that the omission of Kościuszko and Pulaski from the textbooks was proper?"

RIGHELMER—I believe that if these patriots were overlooked it was an error. We are all human and all of us commit errors. I do not approve of the omission of any men who contributed to the glory and freedom of the United States. I hold no brief for McAndrew. I have never talked with him privately in my life. Are we here to try a man on charges or are we doing something else? That's the question I want answered and substantiated."

Righelmer on Ethian Allen.

RIGHELMER—Mr. Raymer's glorious defense of McAndrew is not so disinterested as it seems. He voted against even the original charges. The omission of Kościuszko and Pulaski was not accidental. It was the result of English propaganda. Are you willing to omit such a patriot as Ethian Allen, who said: 'I regret that I have but one life to give for my country'?"

At that trial of Supt. McAndrew threatened to become a brawl.

"I object I object!" shouted Francis X. Busch, attorney for Supt. McAndrew. "It was Nathan Hale who said it."

"Yea, Hale! Yea, Allen!" yelled the delighted gallery. The Hales won and the chair succeeded in restoring order with a dozen lusty strokes of the gavel.

Words Fly Fast and Furious.

RIGHELMER—I'm entirely in accordance with what Mr. Righelmer has just said. But it has no bearing on the charge of insubordination.

RIGHELMER—When a man teaches that the revolutionary soldiers were smugglers, bums, pettifogging lawyers, and loafers, the board of education should refuse to be cowed.

RIGHELMER—You've been looking for a goat. Now you've got one. Go ahead."

RIGHELMER—You haven't heard all of the evidence.

RIGHELMER—Thank God, I didn't have to hear all of it!

At 4:30 the board voted unanimously to recess the hearing to next Wednesday, Nov. 30, at which time it will decide whether to proceed with the charges without the attendance of Supt. McAndrew. Just before adjournment McAndrew's attorneys made another effort to have his letter placed in the records. President Coath, in denying their petition, suggested that a copy be mailed to each of the eleven trustees.

State O. K.'s Air Rights Sale; Adds $330,000,000 to Values

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday gave its unanimous approval to air right developments over the tracks of the Northwestern railroad and of the Union Station company.

Over the latter property at Madison and Canal streets the Chicago Daily News plans the construction of its new building costing $10,000,000. Over the Northwestern tracks, at Wells street and the river, Marshall Field & Co. will erect a $15,000,000 wholesale store and warehouses.

These two decisions, it is asserted, are of large importance in the development of Chicago's central business district.

They open the door, as far as legal consent is concerned, for improvements worth about $330,000,000 over railway tracks and yards adjacent to the loop. These areas and their estimated air right value are as follows:

Illinois Central	$100,000,000
Northwestern	50,000,000
Union station	50,000,000
South side roads	130,000,000
Total	$330,000,000

The unanimous vote of the state commerce commission occurred during an executive session in its headquarters in the City Hall Square building.

Cases Pending 6 Months.

The two cases have been pending before the commission for more than six months. Several hearings have been held on the applications of the Daily News, but the vote of the commissioners heretofore has been split on an approval order. From the outset Chairman David H. Jackson and Commissioner William J. Smith and Paul Kuhn voted in the affirmative. Opposition to the sale of air rights at the various hearings was voiced by Commissioners Patrick H. Moynihan, Alex J. Johnson, Edward Wright and Hal W. Trevillion. One of those who boosted for the sale was Vice President Luzzo of the Chicago Building Trades' council.

In explaining the vote of the dissenting members of the commerce commission Mr. Moynihan said: "The sale of air rights was a new and a large problem and one which required considerable study from many angles."

building on the site now occupied by Loyal hall, 108th street and Avenue J. A delegation of forty citizens from that neighborhood, headed by Ald. W. A. Rowan (10th) presented the mayor with a 5,000 name petition asking for the school.

"It was a problem that could not be disposed of in a hurry unless the welfare of the public was disregarded. The Illinois commerce commission is guided in its decisions in municipal affairs largely by the wishes of the municipalities themselves. For a year and a half engineers for the city of Chicago, the plan commission, and representatives of civic organizations have been at work studying the feasibility of the air right problem."

"Until Monday's hearing this group remained silent. Then this group of engineers and representatives of civic organizations appeared before the commission and stated they favored the sale of air rights."

"Their expression of approval automatically eliminated the opposition of the dissenting members of the commerce commission. I believe I express the sentiment of the commissioners who opposed the plan until today."

Clears South Side Lake Front.

With a precedent established in the development of air rights, the way is open for the development of the lake front along and above the Illinois Central tracks.

Commissioner Smith, who had consistently favored the sale, brought the discussion of the air rights case into the closed conference of the commission yesterday.

"Construction of these and other improvements, which will be undertaken with the granting of permission to sell air rights, will put thousands of building trades' workers and others in allied lines of industry to work."

"The decision of the commerce commission will aid materially in taking up the slack that is slightly apparent in the building industry. Development of air rights automatically spells progress and adds to the prosperity of Chicago."

Commenting on the commission's decision Mr. Luzzo said last night: "This Tribune's agitation for the sale of air rights, while the case was hanging fire before the commerce commission for several weeks, largely responsible for the favorable action taken yesterday. It kept the issue before the public and aroused wage earners to its importance to them."

Spectators at the Stadium November 26th must have field glasses if they are to see the fast plays and passes. The Stadium is 1,000 feet long (about three city blocks) and the field is 300 feet wide. Seats are one hundred fifty to four hundred feet distant from the players.

Very cheap bargain glasses have but little power, lack clearness and have no value in quick action.

A good glass will bring the plays close up, in clear detail. Suitable glasses are variously priced, $12.50 upwards, all with genuine leather cases and straps and good for all purposes.

PRIEST BLESSES FIRING SQUAD AS HE FACES DEATH

Shot with 3 Others for Bombing Obregon.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
(Copyright, 1927: By The Chicago Tribune.)
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 23.—About 10,000 people at 11 o'clock this morning, standing outside the fence which enclosed the police headquarters here, heard the shots with which a priest and three others, accused of the recent attempt to assassinate former President Obregon by throwing two bombs at his automobile, paid the penalty for their crime. Inside the fence stood probably 200 eyewitnesses, police and civic authorities.

A report of the coming execution spread rapidly through the city and brought people from all quarters and all ranks of life. A restraining order had been sought against the execution of the four accused, but the police anticipated the issuance of the injunction, which arrived too late to save the condemned.

To make the execution more dramatic, Red Cross cars stood outside the execution ground ready to take the bodies away.

Witness His Slayers.

The first to be shot was Miguel Aguilar Pro Juarez, presbyter of the Catholic church, who went to his execution without a hat and carrying a rosary. As the soldiers pointed their rifles at him, Pro Juarez spread out his arms, forming a symbol of the cross, and blessed the firing squad. Before being shot he was heard to murmur:

"I forgive my executioners, for they have not what they do."
Luis Segura Vilches, prominent engineer and noted Catholic propagandist, accused of having worked up the plot to assassinate Gen. Obregon, was the second to die. The people crowded closely about the police fence, anxious to take in every detail, as a new firing squad was brought in to replace that which had been doing the execution.

Brother of Priest Shot.
Humberto Pro Juarez, almost a boy, and brother of the executed priest, was next taken from his cell by the police. He looked at the bodies of those already shot and then advanced, with head erect, to the place assigned for his execution. As he fell, sobs were heard from outside the fence, where the sister of the boy and his other brother waited.

Last to appear before the squad was Juan Tirado, who came forth from his cell wrapped in a blanket, his face pale and legs trembling, a perfect picture of abject fear. He could scarcely advance to the place of execution. He made one request:

"Can I not see my mother before dying?"

It was impossible, said the officer of the squad.

After each shooting some member of the firing squad gave "a tiro de gracia," or final shot, required by law at all executions.

Gen. Obregon refused to comment on the executions.

"The law has taken the matter in

GETS DIVORCE

Elizabeth Frances Ingram Evans.

Elizabeth Frances Ingram, former grand opera star, obtained a divorce yesterday before Superior Judge Joseph Sabath from her fourth husband, Holbert O. Evans, who did not work regularly during their married life, according to testimony. She did not ask for alimony, stating she has an income of her own.

Frances Ingram, as she is known to patrons of the opera, was married to Evans on Oct. 10, 1924, at Crown Point, shortly after she was divorced from George S. Wandling, a New York policeman, to whom she was wed in 1921 while she was singing with the Metropolitan Opera company.

Other former husbands were Dr. Julian B. Marks, Chicago physician, and Karl G. MacVitty, New York theatrical producer.

hand and no comment is called for from me," he said.
Gen. Roberto Cruz, head of the metropolitan police, said the executed men were guilty beyond a doubt.

SEARCH KRESGE'S SON; CONFISCATE WHISKY, AUTO

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 23.—[Special.]—A 22 year old youth giving his name as H. C. Kresge, was stopped at the dock tonight, his roadster searched and eleven bottles of Canadian whisky confiscated. Two other boys were in the car.

The automobile, traced through the police department, was found to be owned by H. C. Kresge, 70 West Boston boulevard. "This is the home of the first wife of Sebastian S. Kresge, millionaire owner of hundreds of chain stores and one of the country's best known workers for the enforcement of the prohibition law, and who has contributed hundreds of thousands of dollars towards its support. The car is being held.

RICH AND POOR, CHICAGO GIVES THANKS TODAY

City Remembers Its Needy with Turkey Dinners.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

When Chicago, true to Thanksgiving tradition, tucks its feet beneath the table, a napkin under its chin and a turkey drumstick between its teeth along about noon today, it may feel certain that everything possible has been done to give all within its boundaries a reason to be thankful.

For there is assurance that he who would may eat, and eat well, thanks to the generosity of those who have, and their thoughtfulness for those who have not. Many thousands of meals have been provided for distribution among the unfortunate. In many instances, rich and poor will fare alike.

The weather, it was indicated, will be the only flaw in the celebration of the day. The Chicago forecaster predicted that rain is a probability. Little change is expected in the temperature.

Propose Good Will Toast.

To promote the general good will of the day, a toast in which Catholic, Protestant, and Jew concurred, was proposed yesterday by the Chicago Forum. The toast was signed by Rabbi Louis L. Mann, Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, and Father Frederic Sledenburg of Loyola university. It read:

"May each oncoming Thanksgiving find democracy more firmly entrenched as the spiritual core of our national life. May our great nation gain strength of soul equal to meet the challenge of her unbelievable wealth. And may our people never grow lukewarm in their sense of indebtedness to the Almighty Giver of all good things."

Institutions that will play host today to the less fortunate among the city's millions include the Cathedral Shelter at Washington and Peoria streets, where at least 500 floaters will be given meals.

The annual Thanksgiving dinner of the First Methodist church Sunday school was held last night at Chicago temple, where 350 boys and girls ate turkey and trimmings and listened to a musical program. George W. Nixon is superintendent of the Sunday school.

Other Dinners Planned.

Forty-five hundred will be served at Oak Forest infirmary, 250 at the juvenile detention home, 1,150 at the county jail, several hundred at the Bridgwell, and 3,000 at the county hospital at Dunning, where the inmates will be permitted to dance in the dining room following the feast.

Red Cross workers are taking memories of the day to the 875 war veterans at Speedway hospital. There will be turkey and pie for all. William H. Malone, chairman of the Illinois tax commission, will be host to 100 children from the Norwegian Lutheran Children's home at a dinner in the Methodist church hall in Park Ridge. Y. M. C. A. branches will serve dinners to 1,000 young men away from home, each dinner being followed by a musical entertainment. Basket dinners to the number of

MILLIONS LISTEN IN ON PROCLAMATION OF PRESIDENT OVER RADIO

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—[Special.]—Millions of Americans, scattered from Maine to California, listened in tonight as President Coolidge broke precedents by delivering his annual Thanksgiving day proclamation over a network of radio stations that carried his voice to every section of the land. Thirty-six stations were joined in one set-up.

The President spoke from his study. The reading required less than five minutes.

"Under the guidance and watchful care of a divine and beneficent Providence this country has been carried safely through another year," the President said. "Almighty God has continued to bestow upon us the light of his countenance, and we have prospered."

"Not alone have we enjoyed material success but we have advanced in wisdom and in spiritual understanding. The products of our fields and our factories and of our manifold activities have been maintained on a high level. We have gained in knowledge of the higher values of life. There has been advancement in our physical well-being. We have increased our desire for the things that minister to the mind and to the soul. We have raised the mental and moral standards of life."

"Now that these twelve months are drawing to a close, it is fitting that, as a nation, and as individuals, in accordance with time honored and sacred custom, we should consider the manifold blessings granted to us. While in gratitude we rejoice we should humbly pray that we may be worthy of a continuation of divine favor."

President and Mrs. Coolidge with their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, will attend the Thanksgiving day service of the First Congregational church.

2,900 are being distributed by the United Charities, together with blankets for each family thus remembered. The Salvation Army is doing a like service for 800 more families. Four hundred additional dinners will be given to war widows and families of veterans by the American Legion and its auxiliary. Churches, clubs and school children are delivering similar baskets to other homes.

Many churches have arranged special Thanksgiving day services to be held either morning or evening.

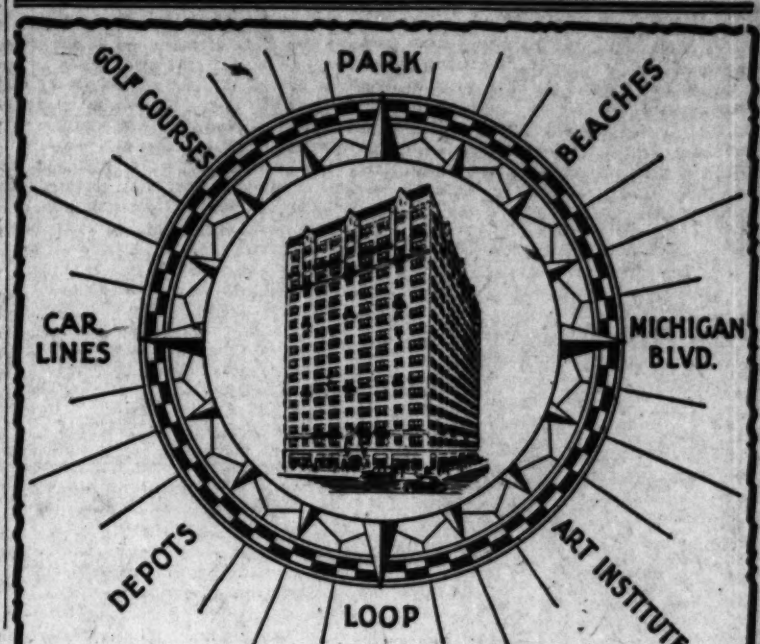

Just before sitting down to dinner, it might be well to read the following advice from Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, city health commissioner:

"Give thanks for health on Thanksgiving day. The best way to give thanks is by living right this day. Start the day cheerfully and try a brisk walk or exercise before breakfast. When turkey time comes around, eat moderately and sanely. After dessert and a quiet hour or two, try a walk outdoors. And close the day early to bed."

PLANS TO SETTLE DEBT; IS SEIZED AS EMBEZZLER

With the avowed intent of making the fullest restitution possible, James Huston of 218 Crompton place agreed last night to meet Milton Bowen, head of the Equipment Finance company, at 39 South La Salle street, and confer over an alleged shortage found in his business dealings with the latter. When he arrived Bowen turned him over to Sergeant William Cusack and Thomas O'Neil of the detective bureau. Police said that Bowen claimed he had been swindled out of $20,000 or more in the handling of automobile finance notes. Huston had with him property, deeds and securities which he said he intended to hand over to Bowen.

CHICAGO DEFEATS LAKE STATES IN FIGHT FOR WATER

Hughes Confirms City's Diversion Rights.

the federal government Chicago is not liable for damages to lake port and riparian interests arising from reduction of lake levels.

Representative Burton (Rep., Ohio), a leader in the fight waged on Chicago, said that he is disappointed by the Hughes decision but withheld further comment pending the study of the finding. He intimated, however, that the fight to prevent Chicago from taking water from the lake for sanitation has only begun and will be carried to congress, if necessary.

Hughes Gives Conclusions.

In a voluminous opinion of 197 printed pages Mr. Hughes reviews the history of Chicago sanitation, quotes from the testimony he heard, and then summarizes his conclusion as follows:

"1. That the complainants present a justiciable controversy.

"2. That the states of Illinois and Michigan have no authority to make or continue the diversion in question without the consent of the United States.

"3. That congress has power to regulate the diversion, that is, to determine whether and to what extent it should be permitted.

"4. That congress has not directly authorized the diversion in question.

"5. That congress has conferred authority upon the secretary of war to regulate the diversion, provided he acts in reasonable relation to the purpose of his delegated authority and not arbitrarily.

"6. That the permit of March 9, 1926, is valid and effective according to its terms, the entire control of the diversion remaining with congress."

Advices Dismissal of Suit.

In the light of these conclusions Mr. Hughes says that in his opinion the bill seeking to enjoin Chicago from further diversion of lake water should be dismissed.

"I think, however," he adds, "that if a situation should develop in which the defendants were seeking to create or continue a withdrawal of water from Lake Michigan without the sanction of congress or of administrative officers acting under its authority, the complainant states have such an interest as would entitle them to bring a bill to restrain such action."

"I therefore recommend that the bill be dismissed without prejudice to the right of the complainant to institute suit to prevent a diversion of water from Lake Michigan in case such diversion is made or attempted without authority of law."

Describes Health Measures.

Mr. Hughes describes exhaustively the measures taken for safeguarding the health of Chicago and the progress of the present sewage treatment undertaking of the sanitary district.

"It is plain," he concludes, "that the present flow from Lake Michigan through the drainage canal could not be immediately cut off or reduced to 1,000 cubic feet and in consequence the sewage of the sanitary district in its present condition turned into Lake Michigan, without exposing the inhabitants of the district to grave risk of water borne diseases, by contamination of the water supply taken from the lake. The Chicago river and the waters of the lake about the city would be filthy and noxious, with serious injury to the commerce of Chicago harbor."

"It appears from the testimony that it would take several years, not less than five years and perhaps ten years, or even more, before the sewage of the district, with such treatment as is practicable could be turned into the lake and the diversion from the lake stopped or greatly reduced, without serious risk to the health of the people of Chicago."

Reduction Is Possible.

"If the work of sewage treatment is efficiently carried on, and is extended by the most approved methods and additional and appropriate measures are taken for water purification, it appears to be possible largely to reduce or altogether to terminate the diversion from Lake Michigan, and still to give the city of Chicago a reasonable measure of immunity from disease through pollution of its water supply. Within what time this result could be achieved cannot now be definitely determined."

"To secure the utmost practicable treatment of the sewage of the Sanitary district and to reduce as rapidly as possible the diversion of water from Lake Michigan, without creating conditions which would seriously menace the health of Chicago, will require constant and expert administrative supervision, the continuous checking up of the results obtained by the installation of treatment works, and the insistence on such improved methods as from time to time will be available."

"Apart from the question of authority which will be considered later, I find upon the facts here shown that the recommendation of the chief of engineers, on the application for the permit of March 9, 1926, which underlay the conditions of that permit, was a reasonable one with respect to the measures immediately practicable."

Lake Levels Lowered.

A large part of the Hughes opinion is devoted to a presentation of the testimony regarding the extent to which lake levels have been lowered by the diversion at Chicago. Under the present permit a maximum diversion of 8,500 cubic feet per second is authorized.

"I find," says Mr. Hughes, "that the full effect of a diversion of 8,500 cubic feet per second of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago through the drainage canal of the sanitary district would be to lower the levels of Lakes Michigan and Huron approximately six inches at mean lake levels; the levels of Lakes Erie and Ontario, approximately five inches at mean lake levels, and the levels of the connecting rivers, bays and harbors, so far as they have the same mean levels as the above mentioned lakes, to the same extent respectively."

Tabulates Lockport Flow.

"By reference to the tabulation of flow in the Chicago drainage canal, it will be observed that the total flow at Lockport did not exceed 8,000 cubic feet per second until 1916, when it was 8,200 cubic feet per second, and from that time it exceeded 8,500 cubic feet per second. The total flow at Lockport amounted to 8,346 cubic feet per second, and that the average from 1920 to 1924 was 8,674 cubic feet per second, and for the years 1925 and 1926, about 8,380 cubic feet per second."

Lake Levels Would Rise.

"I also find that if the diversion at Chicago were ended, assuming that other diversions remained the same, the mean levels of the lakes and rivers affected by the Chicago diversion would be raised in the course of several years (about five years in the case of Lakes Michigan and Huron and about one year in the case of Lakes Erie and Ontario) to the same extent as they had been lowered, respectively, by that diversion."

Inasmuch as the present suit is not an action for damages Mr. Hughes does not attempt to estimate the damage to shipping interests caused by lowering lake levels six inches, although he found that considerable damage brought out in the testimony could be traced to Chicago's diversion of water."

Chicago Not Liable.

It was to another part of the opinion that Mr. Beck pointed as the basis for his inference that Mr. Hughes does not find Chicago liable for damages due to lake level lowering. In that passage Mr. Hughes says:

City's Victory in Water Fight Hailed as Omen of Prosperity

Chicago's water diversion victory yesterday was regarded as an omen of boundless prosperity and progress for the city, whose efforts were made successful by the report of Charles Evans Hughes interpreted the decision as the first and most necessary step in preparation for making Chicago the wonder city of the world.

Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, who carried on the legal battle for Chicago; Timothy J. Crowe, president of the sanitary district, and Mayor Thompson said they saw in the decision a realization of what they have been struggling for.

"Chicago Vindicated."

Following as it does the recent decision of the war department not to force water meters in the homes of the city, the officials say that the relation of Chicago and Illinois with the neighboring states have been clarified and Chicago has been vindicated.

"The victory for Chicago and Illinois can scarcely be overestimated," said Attorney General Carlstrom. "Six states were arrayed on one side of the litigation and seven states on the other and we have been declared to be right. Not only the needs of Chicago were dependent upon this decision but the construction and operation of the lakes to the gulf waterway were involved."

"We will be generous in our victory," said Mayor Thompson, "and we will go to congress and ask that con-

BACKER REBUKES, WEATHER CHIEFS REFUTE AIRMAN

Indian, Mich., Nov. 23.—(AP)—A story of a man who was ordered to get his ship "ready to go" instead of performing for "cheap and vulgar publicity," was quoted tonight in Capt. Frederick A. Giles, British aviator, who proposes to fly to Australia, by William H. Rosenwarne, backer of the flight.

Mr. Rosenwarne's telegram, made public through the Associated Press, was the first intimation of friction between the aviator and his backer. In commenting on the matter, Mr. Rosenwarne said he was puzzled as to how Giles could have lost his navigation instrument without losing his instrument board on the machine.

Charles Fox Sportsmanship. He also intimated that the flyer was guilty of poor sportsmanship. The telegram follows: "Your controversy with officials of the weather bureau I consider unfortunate. This is not to the interests of good sportsmanship. I repeat my name being used as 'not playing the game.' Get back to Frisco, check her over and get ready to go again. Reports here state you lost your navigation instrument. In that case you must have lost your instrument board. Performance in place of cheap and vulgar publicity."

Weathermen Cast Doubt

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Officials of the San Francisco weather bureau today cast doubt on the story of Capt. Frederick A. Giles, British aviator, that a violent storm forced him to turn back at sea yesterday on his attempted flight to Hawaii.

Maj. E. H. Bowie, forecaster, asserted that the atmospheric conditions which Capt. Giles reported encountering about 500 miles out from the Golden Gate were "simply impossible," and added, "It is not reasonable to think that they could have existed."

Capt. Giles landed yesterday afternoon near San Simon, Cal., after taking off here at 7:34 a. m. and heading westward over the Pacific. He reported that he ran into a severe storm.

"There were no winds such as could have wrecked Capt. Giles' plane," declared Maj. Bowie.

Maj. Bowie charged that the aviator and his flight manager had not "played the game" with the bureau.

Capt. Giles had acted contrary to the advice of the weather bureau, Maj. Bowie asserted. He said when favorable forecasts were given the aviator "seemed in no disposition to fly," and then last Saturday, when the bureau warned against a start, Capt. Giles hopped off, flew out 30 miles to sea, dumped part of his gasoline, and returned.

T. R. Reed, another member of the weather bureau staff, declared that reports from six ships along the route

Capt. Giles was to take said nothing about squalls.

Forecaster Reed, who has been an aviator, said that "if Capt. Giles had waited 20 years he couldn't have had better weather between San Francisco and Hawaii than he did Tuesday."

"The weather bureau does not want to get into a controversy with Capt. Giles over his flying ability," he continued, "but a sanitarium is the only place for an aviator who couldn't fly safely through the weather prevailing at sea yesterday."

Capt. Giles left Selfridge field, Mich.,

Jan., three months ago on his trip which was scheduled to end in New Zealand. He took off Aug. 16, circled about a 34, and landed, announcing propeller trouble. Two days later he took off again and crashed at Hobart, Ind. He said his gasoline had been drained at the field. Officials of Ford airport indignantly denied this and Giles later made a retraction. His next attempt was on Oct. 5, and after a series of short hops he crashed at Elko, Nev., from where his plane was shipped to San Francisco.

POINCARÉ DEFIES CHAMBER AS REDS SHOWER INSULTS

BY HENRY WALES.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—Communism, red-baiting and powder than ever before, had this evening. It failed to force a vote on the state of affairs in the navy that gave rise to the battle cruiser Ernest Renan and in the Toulon navy yard. It succeeded in heaping on the government abuse and threats such as rarely heard on the floor of parliament in the world. Voting, 371 to 150 to quash the demand for a parliamentary investigation against the dictates of their consciences. First, because Premier Poincaré made it a question of confidence. Second, because they sensed grave danger of playing into the hands of the communists by throwing light on the conditions in the navy just before the elections. The Reds are seeking many new seats in parliament. M. Leygues, minister of the navy, in a high handed fashion last week informed the commission of government supplies that he would quit before he allowed an investigation of the quality of food and cleanliness in the prisons at Toulon. Flying to his support, Premier Poincaré calmly threatened to resign when the issue came to a head in the chamber today in the form of a demand from the commission of the navy on a nine to six vote, for full powers to investigate. In the midst of the uproar, Premier Poincaré, shaking with indignation, cried at the communist benches: "I would never permit the French soldiers and sailors to witness such a spectacle as you are offering here today." "No, I'll bet you wouldn't," howled Andre Marty, burly one time sailor, who affects the talk and acts like an apache on the floor of the chamber. "You would not dare. They would shoot you down like dogs, the whole lot of you." The speaker called the Red to order and the sinister threat was cut out of the minutes. Auguste Reynaud, Socialist deputy from the department of Var, which includes Toulon, denied he was in sympathy with the communist agitation, but said his party was convinced that an investigation was essential to remove the cause of the trouble if the charges were correct, or remove the cause of suspicion if everything was O. K. He hinted that he did not think this was so, telling how one-third of the crew of the Ernest Renan were poisoned by bad meat. He charged the beastly conditions existed in the venerable Malbouquet prison in Toulon. He added that Commandant Muisser of the Ernest Renan, and his wife were indicted for trafficking in drugs since the incident aboard his ship. With indignation, M. Reynaud accused Premier Poincaré of outraging parliamentary freedom by continually dangling the sword of Damocles over the members' heads in the form of a threat to resign. Coldly and precisely Premier Poincaré snapped: "The government takes full responsibility when it feels that it is necessary. Let the chamber do the same, and if it wants and dares, and kick me out." Andre Berthoin, another bolshevik member, started yelling sarcastically: "I thought parliament was supposed to be supreme in a democracy." A great clamor arose from the conservative benches—"What about Moscow. Let us investigate Moscow and you investigate the navy." "I accept full responsibility for the conditions in the navy," said M. Leygues, "and at a time when the cause of discontent are disappearing, I refuse to allow the morale to be undermined by a visit from a lot of snooping parliamentarians." SUSPEND FOUR LABORITES BY JOHN STEELE. (Chicago Tribune Press Service.) LONDON, Nov. 23.—The Labor-Socialists staged another uproar in the house of commons late tonight, resulting in the suspension of four members of the Labor party from service in the house. Epithets were hurled across the floor, the chairman of the committee of the whole, James Fitzalan Hope, being called by one Laborite a "damned cad," and his action with regard to procedure characterized as a "damned outrage." The storm arose in the debate on the unemployment insurance bill. A number of amendments to a certain clause had been handed in by the Laborites, but the government spokesmen moved a closure, thus stopping any further debate on this section. The Laborites immediately noisily protested, James Marston shouting: "That is damned unfair." Amidst a great uproar, the prime minister moved Mr. Marston's suspension. Ramsay MacDonald tried to intervene, which only brought on more disorder, in which the conservatives now joined. The suspension motion was carried, and Mr. Marston left the house. George Buchanan, Laborite, yelled that the chairman's ruling was "contemptible and unmanly." In the midst of a tremendously wild scene a motion for his suspension was carried. Further yells and interruptions greeted the chairman's endeavors to resume the business, during which Richard Collingham Wallhead, Laborite, called the chairman a "damned cad." Mr. Wallhead was suspended and walked out amidst huge Labor-Socialist applause. "If you had any sense of decency, any sense of propriety, you would resign from the chairmanship," he yelled. "You are mainly responsible for the scene, and it is your resignation we want." He, too, was suspended. Army Whets Appetite to Eat $90,000 of Turkeys Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—(AP)—About $90,000 worth of Thanksgiving turkey will be eaten by the army tomorrow. Under the new special allowance of ration for holidays, each man in the service is allowed one and three-quarters pounds. About 20,000 turkeys will appear on the army's Thanksgiving dinner table.

50 GANGSTERS CAPTURED; NEW RUMOR OF TRUCE

Sergeant Lynch Dies of Bullet Wound.

still in jail a couple of days ago that Alito begged enemy gunmen in an adjoining cell for peace and for a chance for his life. His appeal was scorned.

Chief of Detectives O'Connor exhibited twenty-five letters yesterday which he had received during the day from Italian residents of this city praising him and his men for their work in breaking up the gangs, he said. The signatures of the letters were carefully snipped off, the chief declining to reveal the identities of the writers.

Hughes Lauds Detectives.

Chief of Police Michael Hughes was strong in his praise last night of O'Connor and Deputy Chief of Detectives Michael Grady, as well as Capt. William H. Shoemaker and Capt. John Norton.

"We have this gang situation in hand now, and the first move toward further violence is going to be regretted by somebody," said Chief Hughes. Peter Genna, one of the two survivors of the former family of six notorious Genna brothers, was the important catch in last night's raids. Genna was taken by Capt. William Shoemaker and a squad at the Terminus café, 856 Blue Island avenue.

Genna and the other prisoners were hurried directly to the Des Plaines street police station. There they were forced to line up with other suspects in the regular semi-weekly show up.

Chief O'Connor led his squad of raiders first to the formerly exclusive Metropole hotel in South Michigan avenue, for months the Chicago headquarters of the Al Brown forces. Three men, Harry Bresoin, a plumber, Steve Jennings, and Arthur Tucker, were found loitering in the lobby and taken into custody. Patrolling the corridors of the hotel and looking into some of the rooms in search of other suspects, the chief and his men encountered two men as they left the hotel.

These two, who were also arrested, were Joseph Pullia, 1599 Taylor street, and James Belostro, a restaurant owner, 7726 South Marshfield avenue, believed to be lieutenants of Al Brown. A raid on Frankie Pope's cigar store, 2725 North Clark street, long identified with north side gambling activities, yielded a bag of twenty prisoners, including Pope's brother, Johnnie Pope. Most of the others were employees of the place yalting for the evening rush of business.

Taken as Theft Suspects.

Six suspects taken at 1125 North Hermitage avenue were questioned concerning the recently reported $15,000 wine theft at the Midland warehouse, 1524 South Western avenue. The six, Domineck Vello, John Farrell, 627 South Racine avenue; George A. Stevens, 1224 Van Buren street; Michael Macharale; Edward Steankovic, 1023 Noble street; and Joseph Conti, alias Patricola, were shortly later released by Chief Justice William J. Lindsay of the Criminal court on habeas corpus writs. Waiting at the Des Plaines street police station to view the six was Miss Helen Rieger, said to be a wine agent. It was rumored the robbery was a frameup.

Other Places Raided.

Several other places were raided. At the "Whip" café of John Genaro, one prisoner, Frank Patucci, was seized. At the Appetizer café, 1941 Grand avenue, three prisoners, a cart, a loaded shotgun and a cartridge belt containing 50 rounds of ammunition were found. The prisoners were Frank Fioretti, 27, 2223 Meade avenue; Samuel Lourde, 26, 1914 Grand avenue, and Eugene Praesta, 31 years old.

Lefty Lewis, discharged after trial on charges of murdering Max Braverman, junk dealer, had just quitted the county jail yesterday when a detective squad halted and searched him, finding nothing. Lewis said he had tried to visit a friend in the jail.

GIRL OF 24 IS NOW ASSISTANT TO THE CITY PROSECUTOR

Miss Margaret McGinness stepped to the left of Judge Francis Allegretti's bench in the Boys' court yesterday and took her place as assistant city prosecutor. She is the first woman to hold that office in the city.

Miss McGinness is 24 years old. She lives at 7759 South Sangamon. She is a graduate of De Paul university and was admitted to the bar in 1924. After serving in the corporation counsel's office for the last three months, she became an aid of City Prosecutor Frank Peska.

"I have always been interested in boys who run afoul of the law," said Miss McGinness yesterday. She was placed in the Boys' court on a request made by the Women's Protective association and the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs.

Read the Most Important Christmas Message We Have Ever Written

IF YOU have been thinking about and discussing in the family circle the purchase, some time or other, of a new living-room, dining-room or bedroom suite, a rug, or any other piece of furniture—then this is the most important message that you have ever read.

For if you have given a thought to the purchase of furniture, or if she has thought about it, you may be sure that sooner or later you will have to purchase it. Now has it occurred to you that you can make a saving by giving Furniture for Christmas? You buy the Furniture now and save the cost of the Christmas present you would have given anyhow. And you save the cost of the Furniture you would have to buy later, if you had given something else for Christmas.

The Gift of Furniture solves also the problem of what to give HER and what to give HIM. Instead of pondering over the eternal problem of the suitable gift, make it a JOINT Gift, as Furniture is the ideal gift that can be used and enjoyed by both. The one that will be most appreciated. That will be remembered for Christmases to come, when the more trivial and less enduring gifts will have been long forgotten. Then, too, you brighten the home on Christmas Day itself.

Perhaps you feel that the demand on the Christmas purse is so great that you haven't sufficient money on hand to place the furniture in the home on Christmas Day.

Read, Then, Hartman's Christmas Plan!

It is this: During the Christmas season Hartman's will accept a smaller initial payment on furniture and rugs than at any other time of the year. And you will not be required to make a January payment. Your first monthly payment will be deferred until February—to allow you ample time to pay up your other Christmas bills.

This offer, coming from Hartman's, has double significance. Because at Hartman's, assortments are widest and prices lowest. And, too, at Hartman's, you can buy Toys for the Children and gifts of lesser importance for everyone on the gift list. How simple and delightful to do all your gift shopping under one roof, charge all purchases on the same account, and pay for all in Easy Monthly Payments, beginning February first, after all other bills have been paid.

Chicago Lawyer Expected to Accept Offer.

Col. Noble Brandon Judah, Chicago lawyer and business man, was appointed ambassador to Cuba by President Coolidge yesterday.

He will accept the post, he indicated, but his plans to go to Havana have not been made yet and he declined to discuss the nature of the work ahead of him.

For the appointment Col. Judah had the indorsements of Senator Charles S. Deneen and Senator Elect Frank L. Smith and a number of others.

Succeeds Gen. Crowder.
He will succeed Maj. Gen. Enoch Crowder, who resigned recently. In his new post he automatically will become a member of the Pan-American conference to be held at Havana in Jan-

Col. Judah was born in Chicago April 23, 1854. He was graduated from Brown university in 1894, attended Northwestern University Law school, and was admitted to the bar in 1907. He immediately entered the firm of Judah, Willard, Wolf & Reichmann, of which his father was the head.

He served one term in the state legislature as representative from the First district. In 1915 he enlisted in Battery C of the First Illinois field artillery, and in 1916 went to the Mexican border as its commander in the rank of lieutenant, being promoted to a captaincy a few months later.

Served at Front.

In June, 1917, his battery was mobilized as a part of the 149th field artillery, known as "Reilly's Bucks." He was promoted to major and sailed for France with the Rainbow division. He served at the front and in Germany, taking part in five major engagements and rising to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He was assistant chief of staff of the division and later assistant chief of staff of the First army corps. He is now a colonel in the reserve, commanding the 332d field artillery.

In 1907 he married Miss Dorothy Patterson of Dayton, O. He is a member of St. Paul's Universalist church, a director of the Chicago Title & Trust company, a trustee of Brown university, and is a member of several clubs.

NEW EXTENSION IS LAST, MAYOR WARNS CAR LINES

Threatens to Force Some Kind of Action.

Following approval by the city council of a 30 day extension of the surface lines' franchise, which expires Nov. 30, Mayor Thompson served notice on the companies last night that "the city expects their help in solving the traction problem and expects it quick."

"We're getting tired of delaying things," the mayor declared. "If we're dealing with hot air, it's time we were finding it out."

"At first the companies got an extension of six months; then four months. This time we're giving them only thirty days and the next time maybe they won't get any. I'm not in favor of dallying along with them indefinitely. We're going to force them into some kind of action."

Breen Adds Warning.
Assistant Corporation Counsel James W. Breen, the mayor's transit legal adviser, who drafted the extension ordinance, echoed the mayor's warning. "The companies have got to come in and play ball with us," he said. "If they don't they're going to find themselves in a bad hole about the first of January."

Several aldermen, however, commenting on the mayor's statement, thought that it was hardly warranted inasmuch as the understanding is that the city is to complete its draft of the new transit bills, then call in the companies for negotiations. It is not the companies' fault, they said, because the city hasn't finished its job. They pointed out further that the mayor, apparently, has made no move whatever to facilitate a settlement.

Open Break Is Seen.
Others interpreted the mayor's remarks as indicating that an open break between the administration and the companies may be imminent. They cited the fact that John Maynard Harlan, attorney for the Lismann transit plan, sat beside the mayor and talked with him at length during the council meeting.

The extension ordinance was presented to the council by Ald. Joseph E. McDonough (18th), chairman of the transportation committee. It had not been acted on previously by the committee. It was adopted by unanimous consent without discussion. Mayor Thompson on July 31, it was recalled, declared that "four months is long enough—we ought to get somewhere in that time." Since then the only progress made has been the drafting of four of the five proposed bills by Ald. E. I. Frankhauser's subcommittee. Neither the full committee or the council have as yet acted on any of them.

"HUSBANDS" REFUSE BAIL TO "WIFE" AT TRIAL

Bigamist Suspect Has to Stay in Jail.

(Picture on back page.)
The man who claims to be her husband, standing by offering no assistance, Mrs. Kathryn Gruber Doran, was led from Judge Michael's courtroom to the county jail yesterday to obtain $2,500 bond. She showed no remorse at her prospect of spending Thanksgiving day in jail.

female apparently is that of mistaken identity.
The defendant admitted she was the wife of Alexander R. Kerrman, 2223 North Mingo avenue, the man who caused her arrest after rounding up the other husbands, his suspicions aroused by old letters he found in her trunk. She does not deny she was also wedded to Albert Obsurd, but waxes this aside with a statement that this marriage didn't count because she had lived with him only five days.

"Mr. Kerrman told me, when we were married," she told the jury, "that I didn't have to get a divorce from Mr. Obsurd because I hadn't lived with him a year."
This admission does not convict her before the court because the bigamy indictment does not mention the Obsurd marriage.

Never Seen Two, She Says.
As for the two men besides Kerrman mentioned as victims of her alleged bigamy, Michael J. Dornacher and Stanislaw Strzemiesz, the defendant swore she never saw them before this trial.
Miss Marie Strzemiesz, 30 year old daughter of one of the four husbands, identified the defendant as her stepmother.

"Her hair was dyed when she lived with father, but otherwise she hasn't changed and I'm sure she's the woman who married my father and then acted as cashier for the whole family," the young woman testified in response to questions by Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Hoffman.

Mrs. Marie Planno, married daughter of Dornacher, also identified the defendant as her stepmother. All four men have sworn to the identification.

Plan Movable Equipment in New U. of C. Laboratory

Believing that considerable changes might be required at some future date, designers of the new George Herbert Jones chemical laboratories at the University of Chicago have provided for revolutionary alterations in the inner makeup of the building. All apparatus, sinks, tables, and other fixtures will be readily movable, it was said. The laboratories, which will be of the most modern in construction and equipment, will be devoted almost entirely to research work.

COUNCIL URGED TO O. K. ISLAND AIRPORT PLAN

Alderman Asks Land Deal with South Parks.

Picturing the development of a great airport at Chicago's front door, Ald. A. J. Horan (29th) urged the city council yesterday to turn over to the south park board for that purpose the island in Lake Michigan between 16th and 21st streets.

He presented to the council a resolution asking for "immediate and courteous consideration" of the park commissioners' offer to construct the airport with a view to effecting an arrangement whereby the city, in exchange for the property, would keep partial control of its management through some kind of joint regulation. The resolution was sent to the committee on finance.

Others in Favor of Plan

Half a dozen aldermen spoke in favor of the plan, pointing out that the city does not have the money to carry out the project, while the park board is willing and able to do so.

The island under consideration is a smooth strip of land a mile long, said to be ideally suited for the use of both land and seaplanes and less than three miles from the heart of the city. Originally it was intended as a harbor, but with the development of plans for a harbor in Lake Calumet that idea has been practically abandoned.

Plan Up to Thompson

Final action by the council, it is believed, will probably depend upon the attitude of Mayor Thompson, who did not express himself during the council discussion. His friends, however, predicted that he will either approve the proposed transfer or announce a plan whereby the city may raise funds to proceed with the improvement itself.

Husband Sold Her Bad Stock, Then Left, Says Wife

Mrs. Melvyn Carey Sullivan, 1145 Morris avenue, told Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch yesterday that her husband, Charles F. Sullivan, a broker, sold her worthless stock and that when she questioned him about the transaction he deserted her. She was married in March of 1917 and he left her the next February, she testified. The court indicated she will be granted a divorce.

Parents Agree to Reunite for Girl's Thanksgiving

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Manka agreed yesterday in Judge Edgar A. Jones' court to forgive their domestic differences and become reconciled for the sake of their 9 year old daughter, Mary, and give her a real Thanksgiving dinner. Manka had accused his wife of kidnapping the child, but the little girl's sole induced both husband and wife to agree to live together.

EXPLORATION

BUESUM, Germany, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Capt. Gunther Plieschow, with three stout sailormen, and Schnauffer, their dog, set out at noon today from here in a fifty-five ton cutter to track the fossil glyptodon and giant sloth in southern Patagonia and penetrate the hidden mysteries of Tierra del Fuego. Their first stop will be Lisbon.

Plieschow is the naval flyer who saved the German colors at Tsingtau from Japanese capture at the beginning of the world war and made a determined attempt to get back home to Germany via the United States. After thrilling adventures, he was captured by the British and interned at Donington Hall, whence he made a romantic escape "without saying good-by to King George," as he puts it.

Capt. Plieschow's route is to be via Lisbon, Madeira, and Pernambuco. In Brazil he expects to do some river hunting. His wife is sharing the perils of the voyage as far as Buenos Aires. At Punta Arenas, southernmost city of South America, he is to be joined by a Heinkel double deck plane named Tsingtau, with which he will fly over the unknown interior of Tierra del Fuego in search of possibilities for European settlers. He also will make a thorough study of the native tribes.

8,000 U. of Illinois Students Desert Campus for Holiday

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Nearly 8,000 University of Illinois students deserted the campus today for a five day Thanksgiving vacation, the longest in years. Classes will be resumed Nov. 28.

HOLDEN COURT IS SOLD; MAYOR REFUSES VETO

Without Mayor Thompson's signature, the ordinance passed by the city council authorizing the sale of Holden court to Marshall Field & Co. for $493,000 went into effect yesterday. Transfer of title to the property is expected within a few days.

By his action or rather his refusal to act, the mayor rejected a plea made by the City Club and Woman's City Club that he veto the ordinance on the ground that it is unfair to the city. The court, a 340 foot alley extending from Washington to Randolph streets between the two Field company buildings, resolutions adopted by the two clubs stated, is worth five or six times the price the city will receive. In reply Field & Co. contended that the alley property is already theirs by reason of ownership of all the property on both sides of it and the purchase is only buying the city's easement.

The ordinance was adopted by the council two weeks ago by a vote of 41 to 7. Under the council rules, the mayor had until yesterday to sign or veto it. Upon his failure to do either, it automatically became a law.

Mr. Thompson had no comment to make as to his reasons for not acting. Asked why he did not sign or veto the ordinance, he said: "I didn't choose to do either. The council passed it and it is a law already."

To what use the Field company will put the court has not been announced.

Loss from Pittsburgh Blast May Reach $5,000,000

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 23.—(AP)—The total loss, as a result of the disastrous gas tank explosion on the north side here ten days ago, will be between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000, according to estimates made today by officials of the Equitable Gas company.

Chinese Ban "Big Parade" as German Consul Protests

$6,000,000 CLAIM DROPPED BY WIFE OF SCHIFFMANN

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Mabel Anne Schiffmann, Pasadena society woman, today filed an affidavit in Superior court, declaring she had relinquished a $6,000,000 judgment in her separate maintenance action as a result of a reconciliation with her husband, Rudolph J. Schiffmann, son of a proprietary medicine manufacturer. The affidavit asks that the decree awarded Mrs. Schiffmann here last May be set aside. The reconciliation took place two months ago, she said. In her suit against her husband, Mrs. Schiffmann testified that Schiffmann had run away to Berlin and left her "stranded," with only $350 a month on which to live.

LEAGUE HEAD INDICTED; THREE JUDGES LIBELED

New Jersey Reformer to Face Court Trial.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 23.—(AP)—The state supreme court today indicted Dr. J. J. Foulson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, on charges of libelous statements to newspapers in linking three judges with organized vice in this city.

The grand jury handed the indictment to Common Pleas Judge J. J. Brennan after waiting until Joseph L. Smith had examined newspaper files and checked the published statements with the text of the indictment.

In charging the grand jury, Chief Justice Commey, of the Supreme court, had instructed the return of the indictment charging criminal libel against the person responsible for the publication of the charges.

Had Named Three Judges.
Dr. Foulson had named Common Pleas Judge Walter D. Van Riper and Judge Frank A. Boettner and Judge John A. Smith in his charges, first stating they "were in on the game" and later saying he had "linked them up with general charges that there was a vicious combination existing between organized crime and disorganized law enforcement" in Newark.

He pointed out that the statements were made on his own initiative and that he would fight the charge as a personal matter. He added, however, that the anti-saloon league would support him in any allegations concerning organized vice conditions in the city.

"Not Personal," He Says.
Dr. Foulson reiterated his contention that no charges of personal corruption were made against the judges, and expressed the belief that no jury would convict him and that the case would arouse public sentiment and "set the ground from this vicious combination."

The grand jury that returned the indictment recently handed up a presentment charging the three judges, in response to a charge by Judge Brennan directing that an inquiry be made into Dr. Foulson's allegations.

After hearing newspaper reporters when Dr. Foulson made his statements and those who reported the attack between the minister and Attorney General Hayes, of the Civil Liberties union, when the original charges were made, the jury announced that Dr. Foulson had failed to substantiate his allegations.

GRUENING DENIES STORY OF $10,000 MEXICO MISSION

New York, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Dr. Ernest H. Gruening, an American writer on social subjects, in a telegram to The Associated Press from Portland, Me., denied statements published in Hearst newspapers today that he was authorized last year by President Calles of Mexico to study the situation in England in regard to the coal strike of 1926 and that Calles ordered a pay warrant for $10,000 drawn in Gruening's favor. Dr. Gruening's telegram said:

"So-called expose relating to Mexico which has been appearing in the Hearst newspapers, in the course of which, in the issue of Nov. 23, I am portrayed as being authorized by President Calles to study the situation in regard to the British miners' coal strike in 1926, for which mission, the Hearst expose further alleges, I received $10,000 from President Calles, is an absolute and outrageous lie."

Turning the photostat of the document which purported to be a warrant ordering the Mexican treasurer to pay him $10,000 "obviously a forgery," Dr. Gruening said he never discussed the British coal strike with President Calles, that he never was authorized by Calles to go on "this or any other mission," that he never received a cent of money "directly or indirectly" from Calles, that he was not in England in 1926 and that he was not in Mexico on the date the alleged order was issued. So, while repeating that the material published is utterly and maliciously false, I am taking the necessary legal steps to secure redress."

LEGION OFFICIALS URGE ARMAMENT APPROPRIATIONS

Ask Coolidge to Aid in Message to Congress.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—(Special)—Officials of the American Legion today urged President Coolidge to recommend that Congress approve appropriations providing additional ships for the United States fleet and a general strengthening of America's armed forces on land. This recommendation featured the annual legislative program of the Legion which was presented at the White House today.

As spokesman for the Legion, Edward E. Spofford, national commander, called the attention of the President to the fact that Congress has failed to appropriate sufficient funds either to keep the fleet up to the 5-5-5 ratio set by the Washington naval treaty or to provide an army of 250,000 men, as provided under the national defense act of 1920.

"All American wars in the past have been fought by our citizens—soldiers and sailors and in all of these wars, inadequate preparation needlessly sacrificed the lives of hundreds of thousands of American boys who were forced to fight insufficiently equipped and trained," Mr. Spofford said.

PREDICTS AVIATION GROWTH

Expansion of the air activities of the army far beyond the limits set by the five year development program approved by the last Congress was predicted today by Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick in his sixth and final report as chief of the army air corps.

Increasing recognition by the other combat arms of the service of the importance of aviation in war will lead to the demand for increased air strength, Gen. Patrick believes. In his opinion, the further increase in the air arm will be necessary before the five year air expansion program is completed.

Reporting to the secretary of war on the present state of aviation in the army, Gen. Patrick remarked on the great improvement in aircraft and engines during the last six years, but said a lack of funds made it impossible to give the organized air reserve proper training. He cited aviation accomplishments during the year, calling the Hawaiian flight "a tremendous advance in military aviation."

Would Triple Highway Police Force for Next Year

Request for 183 additional men for its county highway police will be made of the county board when it prepares its 1928 budget by Chief James L. Devereux and Sheriff Charles E. Graydon, it was announced yesterday. There are now 75 men on the force.

Divorce Halted, Sees His Twins for First Time

Vincent Youmans, wealthy young impresario, yesterday for the first time saw his twins, 2½ months old, who were brought to Chicago by their mother, Mrs. Anne M. Youmans, former show girl, after arrangements for a Reno, Nev., divorce fell through. He visited the infant brother and sister in Mrs. Youmans' suite in the Seneca hotel after appearing before Superior Judge John J. Sullivan.

Before the court his attorney, George L. Schein, announced that his client had agreed to pay $150 a week temporary alimony for the support of his wife and children pending the disposition of her separate maintenance suit. This is approximately the same amount he agreed to pay her permanently if she got a divorce in Reno, according to statements made in court.

Dale, Ill., Nov. 23.—(P)—High school rioters were put to rout by police last night after Murphyboro fans had invaded the city, shouting "Beat Carbon-dale!" Flying brick bats from Carbon-dale attackers broke automobile wind-shields and for a time tied up traffic on some of the main streets.

Mr. Lloyd George told M. Painlevé the present government of debts and debts was worse than fools, and that Britain is turning again to the "old party." Mr. Lloyd George was not pessimistic about the future international relations, and said they would require most careful handling as there is danger of early war. The Labor party has secured a new aristocratic recruit in Reginald Bridgeman, who is a cousin of Viscount Lascelles, the king's son-in-law and also of W. C. Bridgeman, first lord of the admiralty. He has just been made Labor's candidate at Uxbridge. Mr. Bridgeman has been in the diplomatic service for twenty years, serving in Madrid, Paris, Athens, Vienna, and Teheran, and was private secretary to Lord Derby and Bertie when they were ambassadors in Paris.

It was the general belief of legal and official circles here that the governor would not intervene. ## RADIO CAN KILL PARLIAMENTS, IS VIEW OF G. B. S.

Could Bring Back Pure Democracy, He Says.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(U.P.)—Wireless science is capable of smashing the whole fabric of representative government, George Bernard Shaw said in a lecture tonight before the Fabian society. His subject was "Democracy as a Delusion."

"Nowadays," he said, "speakers talk to millions of people. I did the other night. The only invention necessary to be able to press a button and register 'aye' or 'nay,' and thus instantaneously register their votes on a political issue. Then the pure democracy of the old fashioned town meeting would have returned."

"None Wants Democracy."

But Mr. Shaw was convinced that nobody wanted pure democracy or any other sort of democracy. He maintained that dictatorship is the natural government for man, and he made the socialist-intellectuals who sit at his feet, as he is the patron saint of the Fabian society, squirm in discomfort. He championed Premier Mussolini and ridiculed government by the people.

"The government of the people and for the people—yes," said Mr. Shaw, "but government by the people cannot be."

He said he was tired of people insisting that they were democrats and then doing everything possible to disprove it. He cited Americans, "who all want prohibition and at the same time want their drink."

"They all vote prohibition," he added, "and then disobey the law."

Champions Use of Force.

"G. B. S." even went so far as to tell his fellow Socialists that "under certain circumstances," a Socialist dictatorship in Great Britain might have to be established by coercive measures, as it was in Russia, instead of by the usual methods of "humbugging" the electorate—the usual way dictatorships were established. He would not advise unconstitutional methods, but the people should be prepared to use them if necessary, as had been done in his native Ireland, where, after thirty years of constitutional efforts, the Irish problem was finally settled only by fire and sword.

Doctors call it "cachexia"

that ill health and malnutrition commonly called "run-down condition"

When cachexia, as frequently happens, is due entirely to the absence of a certain vital dietary factor, yeast is the food to eat. In all such cases, yeast quickens the appetite, improves the digestion and enables you to get strength, energy and endurance from the food you eat.

Yeast is far-famed as a tonic, regulator and general conditioner. And now, in Yeast Foam Tablets, you can get pure yeast in a form you'll like. Easy to swallow, pleasant to chew like candy. Try them just once, and you'll see.

In handy packets for 5c or 50c for the large 10 day bottle at drug stores.

Eat Yeast Foam Tablets for cachexia (run-down condition). Low of appetite. Indigestion. Constipation. Bile-Fluxion.

PASSING OF THE COUNTRY DOCTOR ALARMS GRANGE

Practical Courses in Medicine Urged.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 23.—(U.P.)—Decrying the dwindling supply of country doctors who care for the health of 35,000,000 people in rural communities, Harry A. Caton, master of the Ohio state grange, today placed a resolution before the national grange asking the American Medical association to aid in reforming the present system of medical education.

The grange decided to hold its 1928 convention in Washington, after Denver had made a strong bid for the meeting.

General Practitioners Needed.

"There are increasing hosts in rural sections who are medically helpless, while the cost of medical service, where it is to be had, mounts higher and higher," the Ohio master declared. His resolution asked that the medical profession take some steps to encourage young men to become general practitioners. The specialist, who takes care of about 10 per cent of all medical cases, has rounded the knell for the country doctor and general practitioner, Caton said.

"Young men who are required to spend seven years in college medical work at an expense of from $5,000 to $10,000 are not looking for an ordinary practice among ordinary people, or for any practice in the country," Caton declared. "There is a demand for a practical medical course to fit the general practitioner for worthy service in his community."

Criticizes Farm Loan Board.

James T. Phillips, state master of Missouri, attacked "the undue domination of the federal farm loan board by the treasury department." In a resolution asking that the cooperative features of the present farm loan system be properly developed.

CORPORATION TAX CUT MAY INCLUDE 1927 EARNINGS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—(Special.)—Retrospective application of the reduction in corporation taxes appeared probable today, though the house ways and means committee failed to reach a decision on this point.

Representative Green (Rep., Ia.), chairman of the committee, expressed the belief that the reduction in the tax on corporation earnings from 12-1/2 to 11 1/2 per cent, as agreed upon yesterday, should be effective on earnings of 1927.

Children Dependents Until 21.

The ways and means committee today rejected a proposal by Representative Basharsch (Rep., N. J.) to increase the age limit of dependent children for whom deductions may be claimed. He suggested that when children are in school the age limit be 21 instead of 18.

Republicans Can Control. It is expected that the Republican members of the committee will support Mr. Green in making the tax cut apply to 1927 earnings. If they stand together they will be able to control the situation regardless of the attitude of the Democrats.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon recommended making the corporation tax cut retroactive on 1927 earnings, and it has been the practice in other revisions of the revenue law to make income tax cuts apply to earnings of the preceding year.

BY MAGRUDER ON
"WASTE" IN NAVY

Attache Says Cash Spent
Will Save Lives in War.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
PARIS, Nov. 23.—Capt. Richard White, naval attaché of the American embassy here, speaking at the annual Thanksgiving banquet of the American club in Paris tonight, announced the first fluent answer to Admiral Magruder's criticisms of the navy and naval administration.
Capt. White, who was wounded in the war, turned the Thanksgiving festivity into a belated affair with an address defending the navy's management and urging the utmost preparedness for the next war will be won properly.

"For if this victory, what must be the result?" said the captain, referring to the outcome of the world war.

Says He Admires Magruder.
His personal friendship and admiration for Admiral Magruder,
"late naval attaché to the embassy here, more lately commander of the Philadelphia navy yard, most likely and at present commandant of a naval school in Washington."

He carefully was the speech worded that it is supposed here that it was inspired from Washington.

"I find myself diametrically at variance with everything Admiral Magruder says," Capt. White said. "If the navy were in one direction, I could see overwhelming economies in it. If he persists that we are overburdened now, I will point to the fact that we have labored in the early part of every war in which we have been involved. What he calls overhead is calculated to save us life and very costly deficiency in other wars. What he calls extravagance may prove on mature consideration to be economy."

Navy Economizes, He Says.
"But we don't scorn economy in the navy. It is our middle name—we are economizing it, studying it, applying it, all the time. I could cite a whole list of economies, but if President Coolidge heard me, he would say: 'Captain, you make me and my extravagant Vermon friends look like profligate quadrants.'"

"Talk about eleven admirals in the Panama maneuvers. In case of real war every one of those eleven admirals would look mighty good. There is no royal road to victory. Some wars may have been won by genius, but the trouble with that system is that admirals do not seem to find their genius until about the third or fourth year of war. Proper preparation, plus genius, is pretty good."

French guests raised their eyebrows at the warlike tone of the captain's remarks.
"It isn't questioned whether we will win the next war. We have learned to win the next war in no half way measure—either win it or completely fail. There will only be one peace at last, instead of fourteen.
And the answer will be us. That is why we are carrying the overhead Admiral Magruder complains of, and so long as the overhead points to victory, it is extravagance well spent."

Rescue Paralyzed Night
Watchman from Hunger Found helpless and starving on the roof of his home yesterday, Emil Kles-sch, 42, of 1858 Elston avenue, was taken to the county hospital in a serious condition. Klesch, who is a watchman, had suffered a stroke of paralysis last Monday and fell to the floor, where he lay until his employer investigated his absence from work. Rain invaded the room and bit his feet.

ABANDONS CHAIN
LETTER PLAN TO
DRAFT COOLIDGE

President's Wishes
Halt Petitions.

New York, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The plan to draft President Coolidge as a candidate for reelection by means of a series of chain letters was abandoned by its originator, Phi B. M. Tucker, Boston banker. He issued a statement requesting that all work on the plan cease immediately.

The idea was entirely of his own, he said. He denied published a story that Frank W. Stearns and former Senator William M. Butler, close friends of the President, had anything to do with it.
Mr. Tucker said his purpose was "to make it possible for the fire at mass of American citizens to speak for Mr.
Coolidge as with one voice."

Abandonment of the project was in response to the expressed wish of the President that any petitions favoring his candidacy be discontinued.

Won't Be Drafted.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—[Special.]—Two prominent Republicans today expressed the opinion that President Coolidge will not be drafted in 1928. Both made their views public after conferences with the President.
One was C. C. Hamlin, national commissioner from Colorado, the other Gov. Theodore Christianson of Minnesota. Hamlin said talk of drafting
Mr. Coolidge "was ridiculous." Gov.
Christianson expressed the opinion that the President meant exactly what he said when he declared that he did not choose to run.

Note Gradual Decrease in Infantile Paralysis Cases
Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—(AP)— A gradual decrease in the number of infantile paralysis cases in the United States took place during the week ending Nov. 19. Public health service reports indicated a decrease from 318 to 298 cases, although small increases were noted in eight states.

TOKIO, Nov. 23.—Telegrams from Peking say Marshal Chang Tso-lin, the Manchurian war lord, who now heads the north China government, is preparing to proclaim himself emperor.
He has ordered coronation robes from Beijing, China's leading silk center.
He has decided to rename his empire the "Great Wide State," and his era
the "military mountain era."

The Japanese profess mild amazement over his new step. Japan's principal attention to Marshal Chang is directed to his efforts to drive Korean farmers from Manchuria. About 1,000, 000 Koreans, who are Japanese subjects, are settled in eastern Manchuria, principally as tenant farmers.

Marshal Chang is driving these out,
in many cases confiscating their crops,
on the ground that Japanese subjects are not permitted to lease land or engage in agriculture in Manchuria.
Of 5,000 farmers in the neighborhood of Antung, 4,500 recently were evicted.

CHARGES FORCED CONFESSION IN FLOGGING TRIAL

Defendant Says Reward
Was Promised.

Everett, Ala., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Promises of reward and protection, a threat against the Ku Klux Klan, and beatings and cursing caused Shelby Gregory to confess to the flogging of Annie Mae Simmons, Negro, the defendant testified at his trial for kidnapping today.

Gregory, accused of kidnapping and flogging the Negro, is the first of thirty-three men to be brought to trial by Attorney General Charles C. McCall in connection with Greensboro county's "reign of terror."

The defendant denied being implicated in the alleged flogging and said his confession, admitted in evidence Tuesday, was "induced by browbeating, cursing, and promises of reward and protection by the attorney general."

Gregory testified that the attorney general boasted to him he was "after the Klan."

"I am in this game to get the Ku Klux Klan. They are the boys I am after," he quoted McCall as saying. McCall resigned from the order several months ago.

The defense was expected to complete its case tonight. The state rested Tuesday after presenting five witnesses who identified Gregory as one of five kidnapers of the Simmons woman.

KLAN Foe IS EXILED

William M. Kilgo of 7119 Ridgeland avenue told a story yesterday that he had been driven by Ku Klux Klan threats from Toccoa, Ga., where he was engaged in the dry goods business. He is now working in a State street department store.

Mr. Kilgo said he was responsible for the arrest of ten floggers in that state last summer and he obtained the evidence and warrants with the assistance of only one other man.

"I had once been a member of the Klan myself."

"When one of my neighbors, a good woman, but about whom there had been some unfounded gossip, was beaten unmercifully by these defenders of law and order I determined to seek evidence and investigate several flagrant cases of flogging round Toccoa."

"Five of the floggers had been recognized, largely by their voices. All the victims named the same man. One had looked squarely into the face of W. G. Acre, later tried, convicted, and sentenced to twelve months."

"Acre had removed his hood to mask a victim so the victim couldn't see where he was being taken. One man, who had taken a flogged woman, left on the road seven miles from town, for medical treatment was so threatened by his fellow klanmen that he was driven mad and is now in an insane asylum."

MAID'S MISTAKE SAVES EMPLOYER $45,000 JEWELS

Although a maid forgot to obey orders from Mrs. Lucius F. Foster, 29 East Schiller street, the employee will win praise. Mrs. Foster, wife of a banker, just prior to her departure for Buffalo, N. Y., told Miss Rosabelle Whitley, her maid, to put her $45,000 jewelry in the suit case which Mrs. Foster took.

The suit case was stolen last Sunday from the automobile of A. V. Dupont, at whose home she had been stopping in Buffalo. At the time of the theft she was on her way to a Chicago bound train. She reported her jewels as stolen.

"On reaching my home," Mrs. Foster said last night, "I found Miss Whitley had not packed the jewelry. It was safe at home. Her's was a lucky mistake."

CHICAGO GREET PERSIAN ENVOY; RECEPTION TODAY

Mrs. Davood Khan Mafiah, Persian minister to the United States, visiting in Chicago for the first time, will attend an official reception this afternoon at the Persian consulate. In his honor a luncheon has been arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Marshall. This evening the Persian envoy's party will attend the opera after a dinner arranged by Mrs. Jacob Baur.

"The demand in Persia for American merchandise is strong, but it can be increased," the envoy said yesterday at a luncheon at the Hotel La Salle just after his arrival. The luncheon was arranged by the Chicago Association of Commerce. Promotion of closer relations between Persia and the United States is one of the aims of the visiting minister. He will speak on Persia's efforts to control the opium problem before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations Friday.

YOU AND YOUR CHILDREN
by Mrs. Gladys Huntington DeWitt

"I Can't Keep Him in Bed"

How some things stand out in one's childhood memories! I don't remember being sick at all when I was a little girl, though I know I was. But I do remember getting well. Those were such pleasant times. I remember my grandmother standing at the foot of my bed, her cheeks rosy from the crisp winter air, with a bunch of cool green grapes in her hand. I remember her scraping apples for me, and my watching for the fatal moment when the skin would break and the fine frothy scrapings would change to lumpy ones.

I remember sitting in the twilight when I was well enough to come downstairs, and listening to the cheerful sounds from the dining room and kitchen below. I remember my mother calling out to me as she came up the stairs with my very special supper tray. I remember new water colors for my paint box, and beautiful little kid covered boxes that my father got from somewhere and satin and velvet scraps of luscious color, and books and books and books.

Convalescence is a very difficult time for the children—not to mention their mothers! Whatever their age is, they fret at the inactivity of having to stay in bed. Some mothers get so desperate that they let their children get up before they should.

"I can't keep him in bed—he just won't stay in bed," they say. But they must stay in bed—they must be kept in bed to conserve their strength. The way to do it is to make their convalescence a happy time. It may require a little ingenuity to achieve this, but aside from the benefit to the child, that is less trouble than fussing and discontent would be.

This convalescent period is probably more difficult with the very little children than it is with the older ones. They must not use their eyes too much, and each amusement must be followed by an interval of rest, because they quickly become weary, and children do not realize how tired they are until, suddenly, they are too tired.

They may draw and paint and look at pictures and read in moderation. They will adore playing games with you and there are games that even small children can learn to play—like squares and tick-tack-toe and dicker-dicker-dock and having little contests which will cause gales of merriment. Like who can draw the best pig or monkey or elephant with eyes shut or with eyes open. The playing of phonograph records is a great diversion to some children and gives them physical quiet. Little surprises—it doesn't matter how little—when you come in from marketing, or from daddy or auntie or grandma give them something to look forward to. And of course being read to is something every child loves.

But one of the most effective devices I ever used with little convalescents was to give them a big bowl full of salt, two or three spoons of different sizes, two little cups, a number of small paper bags or cornucopias, a pasteboard box, and scales if they have them. No more need be said. There is magic in a bag of salt for a frantically restless or utterly bored child.

HAROLD TEEN—A TABOOED SUBJECT

Cleanliness in Small Things Is Sure Way to Beauty

A certain parent of an older generation used to amuse her family with her "double" purchases. No matter what she bought for the home, she bought in pairs. Two pictures. Two bedspreads. Two tablecloths, two armchairs—rarely ever three or four when the purchase might readily enough have justified the extra.

"Mother lived just a bit ahead of her time," her daughter said laughingly. "Buying two toothbrushes at a time, two hairbrushes, two powder puffs, as we're advised to do today would have met with her hearty approval."

That mother surely would have had not one, but two cream removers on hand for the face cleaning job—a second one to wipe off the excess cream and with it every last particle of grime.

A word first about the need for cleanliness of the cloth that is used to wipe off cream. Women particular in every other regard will use time after time the same towel or piece of cheesecloth or soft cotton cloth for this job. If a surprising amount of dirt comes off on the regular face towel, it is not to be understood that the face itself was extraordinarily dirty. The dirty cloth can be blamed. Using even a second time a cloth that already has taken up dirt and grime and oil from the cream is a most unhealthy practice, especially if there are any facial blemishes, such as pimples and blackheads, acne and so on.

The particular woman takes no chance on leaving a small particle of grease or dust or grime to develop into blackheads or to smudge the face in any way. She has one rag to take the first coating of cream off, and a second to polish off the work of cleaning. It is imperative that a woman who is averse to washing her face with soap and water use the two cleansing cloths, each spotlessly clean. Likewise,

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.
Our Bird.

In a description of the old Puritan ways there is this statement: "We kept turkey where it belongs, on an eminence, and never had it on any occasion except Thanksgiving and Christmas." Considering how handy the Puritan was with his gun, this seems a bit astonishing, for the wild turkey must have been in the woods he frequented in order to supply his larder the whole year through, but had its season of superiority, as other game has.

There is no doubt about the turkey being indigenous to North America, where it is said the Zuni Indians were acquainted with it for centuries. Cortez was served roasted turkey (which it is said, the Aztecs domesticated), when he invaded Mexico. It is said, also, that the adventurous Coronado found wild turkey among the cliff dwellers in what is now our southwest.

It is imperative that one with an oily skin follow the same procedure for the additional reason that no oil whatever should be left on a surface subject, it is, to excessive oiliness.

The paper towels and tissues are solving the problem of strict hygiene for many. If the washing of the oily cloth is objected to by those who prefer the other kind, cheesecloth cut into squares after buying in bolts or half bolts is a possible way to meet the exigency at comparatively small expense, a fresh square to be used for every face cleansing attack.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

I. V. N.: WEARING DARK clothes will make a dark skin appear darker unless they are relieved at the neck with a becoming light color, like a cream white, and or delicate pink. Yes, dark blue, dark green, purple and red may be worn, with the proper relief.

Chicagoans in Paris.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—The following Chicagoans registered today at the Paris bureau of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nathan.

Official Brother Tells Sister Just Where to Alight

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am not what you could call even slightly pretty. My brother amuses himself telling me just what I look like and bewails the fact constantly that he has such a sister. If we happen to be in a crowd he makes fun of me. I do not weep down anybody's neck or say anything to anyone about it. But it hurts, and deeply."

"He is younger by a year than I. He goes around with boys several years his senior, however. We often travel with the same crowd. To those of his friends with whom I go out he criticizes me. He carefully hides from his other friends that he has a sister or that I am she. When he sees me he deliberately turns his back. He waxes sarcastic at other times when people are around and says cutting things. "Don't get the idea I'm a martyr or some down-trodden chee-lid. I'm asking you what to do. The family can't do a thing about it. Anyway, other boys don't seem to find me so objectionable."

What a perfectly insufferable youth! He must be about the age of getting into his first long trousers, not quite over that devastating period when one does not know what to do with small boys—slay them or flay them. Certainly he has not reached man's estate. Having reached it he would know that the best estimate of a man's character is his attitude toward his own kin. Instead of belittling his sister, he, if only for his own glory, would extol her virtues if she lack the physical charms.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Why Try Further?

"Dear Miss Blake: When I ask a certain girl for a date she always turns me down. She claims I am too late. "THOM." She wouldn't be so exacting, then, if she wished to accept. I shouldn't make another attempt."

For the benefit of boys, it might be well to advise that if they want to create the most unfavorable picture of themselves that is within their power, let them be nastily superior to their own flesh and blood. That brands them, so that none can mistake them for a better breed of stock.

I heard recently of a painfully elegant young man who made existence so miserable for his sister because of her perfectly normal wholesome flesh that in desperation she took to a diet which consisted of practically nothing to eat for weeks, and nearly made a wreck of herself.

The average youth has just about enough to do to devote his time and attention to finding flaws in himself and remedying them. And the privilege ought to be permitted the girl in the house to do her own improving, likewise.

Bachelor-Benedick

Attracts Gayest of City's Smartest Set

Only the gayest and youngest of the city's smartest set were at the Bachelors and Benedicks' ball last night, for the committee consisting of Lester Armour, Keith Carpenter, Dexter Cummings, Edison Dick, Wesley Dixon, James H. Douglas Jr., J. Russell Forgan, Darrow Bruce Fulton, Stephen Y. Hord, Henry A. Knott, Paul McBride, William B. McVane, William R. Odell Jr., J. Sanford Olin, M. Ogden West, and Edwin Winters II, had decreed that the invitation list be pared down to 480 guests this year.

The gold ballroom of the Congress hotel was festooned with bright streamers of gay balloons, and the tables set around the edge of the dance floor for the midnight supper were decorated with bouquets of small russet chrysanthemums, and miniature garlands to applaud the entertainment.

The receiving line, consisting of Mrs. Forgan, Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. Fulton, Mrs. Hord, Mrs. Dixon and Mrs. McBride, the wives of the benefactors to the committee, wore the long white gloves that have been discarded except for such functions, and corsage bouquets of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Forgan, one of the most beautiful of the young matrons, was wearing white satin, severely cut, tied at one side with a sash and scalloped at the hem. A strand of pearls and one of crystals were her only jewelry, and she wore scarlet and silver slippers. Mrs. McBride was in white transparent velvet banded in silver beads.

More than 50,000 shares of United States Steel common changed hands, the final price of 14 1/2, representing a net gain of 1 1/2 on the day. Total transactions in General Motors approached close to 100,000 shares, but the stock showed a net loss of 1/2 at 12 1/2.

Dolton, Ill.

A Thrifty Home Town

Established in 1879 and incorporated in 1893, Dolton is considered by many the most desirable place to live in the great industrial region lying south of Chicago. This region, the Calumet District, is said to have over 500,000 employees on the many pay rolls. Dolton has a population of 4,000, according to the estimate of local authorities made this year, 1927, and its bank, the First National, has aggregate resources of close to one million dollars. The assessed valuation for taxation purposes in 1926 was $1,816,815, as compared with an estimated actual real valuation in excess of $10,000,000.

New York, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Important high records for all time were moved down today and that on New York's stock exchange today. The average price of industrial shares reached an unprecedented level and the number of individual issues traded in was 899, the highest total ever reached. Sale of a membership on the stock exchange was arranged at $300,000, and a seat on the curb market was sold for $40,000, both high record figures.

For the second time this year and the fifth time in history, the total sales on the stock exchange exceeded 1,000,000 shares. This was brought about by unusually energetic bidding for about a score of specialties, which registered gains of 2 to 12 points.

West of Gains Retained. Although part of these gains were lost when profit taking developed, net advances of 4 to 6 points or more were numerous among such stocks as Brooklyn Edison, Otis Steel, National Lead, American Republics, Lehigh Valley, Soo Lines, and Stromberg Carborundum. The general list was somewhat mixed, and disclosed a scattering of substantial losses.

Except for the continued ease of money rates and a slight increase in the mill operations of the United States Steel corporation, there was little in the day's news to influence the price movement. Banks called about $10,000,000 in loans and further gold shipments, totaling $5,000,000, were sent to Canada, but call money held steady at 3 1/2 per cent for the fifteenth consecutive session.

Standard industrial continued to take little part in the turbulent movement of the day.

COFFEE MARKETS. NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Coffee futures closed 5 points lower to 4 points higher, but after selling off to 15.60, March, advanced to 15.65 on a 100-point rise.

Fate Plays Tricks

WHEN men buy life insurance they feel that they have positively provided for wife and family—assured the education of the children—smoothed the path of life for their dependents.

Too frequently, however, Fate plays tricks with their plans. The widow or guardian is no longer here to carry out the agreed program. The money intended to give the children a college education and a fair start in life is used for other purposes. The beneficiary's lack of financial experience causes the principal to be depleted.

By arranging a PROTECTED Life Insurance Trust here you guard against such mishaps and insure your purposes. Prudent, expert and enduring administration of insurance funds is provided. Our $2,000,000 special reserve fund protects your investments against loss.

A safe and easy way to assure a dependable and flexible income for your family.

It costs you nothing to arrange a Protected Life Insurance Trust. A reasonable charge is made for administering the funds when paid to us by the insurance company. Come in and consult our Trust Officers, or write for booklets, "PROTECTED LIFE INSURANCE TRUSTS."
